Re: Collaboration with the Crooked Creek Cultural Campus

November 4, 2025

Dear Kerry,

On behalf of Sycamore School, I am writing to express our great intent to collaborate with the Crooked Creek Cultural Campus as it moves toward development and realization. We are excited about the vision for this transformative space and believe it will play a vital role in enriching the cultural, educational, and community life of the greater Indianapolis community. I am particularly delighted to be supporting a fellow member of the Crooked Creek community!

The Crooked Creek Cultural Campus will serve as a hub for arts, culture, education, and community engagement. We are aligned with your goal to create a dynamic and inclusive space that celebrates heritage, fosters creativity, and strengthens economic and social connections within the community.

As discussed in our gathering last week, Sycamore can support this project in a number of ways, including facility use, communication with our families, and financial support. There are certainly more ways we would wish to partner, and I look forward to continuing our conversation about other means of collaboration. May this Letter of Intent affirm our interest.

This Letter of Intent is nonbinding and intended solely to confirm our mutual interest in working together. We understand that the project is still in development and welcome ongoing dialogue to determine the most effective and sustainable ways we can be involved. Our administrative team and I are available to meet and discuss potential roles, partnership models, and alignment with your timeline and community priorities.

Thank you for your commitment to supporting the cultural, economic vitality and engagement of the community.

Be well,

John Huber
